

Basecamp Homepage Redesign

3-Day Design Challenge

The Brief

Redesign Basecamp's homepage. Their current site feels outdated, text-heavy, and doesn't showcase the product clearly. Your version should feel modern, clean, and conversion-focused.

Real feedback from users: "Outdated design," "cluttered," "no clear visual hierarchy," "doesn't show what the product does."

Three Sections

1. Hero

Compelling headline + subheading + CTA button + visual (product screenshot, illustration, or animation)

2. Features

3-4 key features. For each: icon, headline, brief description, and visual. Keep it outcome-focused, not feature-focused.

3. Trust / Pricing

Either social proof (customer logos + testimonials) OR simple pricing table with clear CTA.

Design References

Study these for inspiration:

- Asana (asana.com) — Clear headlines, bold typography, generous whitespace
- Notion (notion.com) — Minimalist design, custom illustrations, calm aesthetic
- Canva (canva.com) — Vibrant colors, shows product capability immediately
- Linear (linear.app) — Elegant, minimal, product screenshots integrated cleanly
- Slack (slack.com) — Animated demo showing product in action

Requirements

- Desktop only (1920x1080)
- Visually polished — clean typography, consistent spacing, cohesive colors
- Clear CTAs that stand out
- Show actual Basecamp product UI (screenshots/mockups)
- Include design system: colors, typography, key components

Deliverables

- Figma link (preferred) or high-res PNG/PDF exports
- Design system showing colors, typography, buttons, spacing

- 1-page brief explaining your approach and design decisions

What We're Judging

Skill	What We're Looking For
Visual Design	Clean layout, good typography, consistent spacing, professional polish
Problem Solving	Did you understand what's broken? Does your design fix those issues?
Design Thinking	Evidence of research. Did you learn from the reference sites?
Communication	Clear brief. Does it explain your choices?

Bonus: Thoughtful animations, accessibility, modern component thinking

Timeline

3 days to complete. Email submissions to [your-contact-email]

Let's see what you've got! 📧